CLASSROOM NEWS

3/4K—Mrs. Nelson—We are happy to have our classmates coming back to school this week! Dressing up for spirit week has been fun for us too. This week our adventure was into church where Pastor Zabell talked to us about baptism. How great that Jesus washed all our sins away!

3/4K—Mrs. Zabell— It's baptism week! We learned about Jesus' baptism and our own. What a blessing to be called children of God! We also had fun using scooter boards for the first time, enjoyed some messy process art, and wrote progressive stories together. It was also fun dressing up for the spirit days this week.....Go Eagles!

5K—Mrs. Jammer— We had a wonderful time at the Children's Museum. Thanks to everyone who drove/ chaperoned. Lots of pictures are on our Facebook page. We learned about Martin Luther King Jr. and are investigating fabrics in science. In music we are becoming familiar with music that has patterns of 2s, 3s, and 4s (think marches and waltzes, etc.) Dates to remember: We sing Sunday, Feb. 6. We perform pre show entertainment on Saturday, March 5. Spirit week is fun. Tomorrow is the pep fest and St. Paul Eagle Night. Come cheer on the Eagles at the basketball game.

1—Mrs. Blum—We have had such a fun spirit week and are really enjoying having the whole group together again! Every day that we are all here together is a cause for celebration! The first graders and I have been discussing "productive struggle" and how we can accept learning challenges and persevere through them. We are working hard to learn new things in math, reading and writing, especially, and we are realizing that hard work and practice pays off. They are so proud of the learning they are doing!

2—Mrs. Bakeberg—We are listening to books about famous African Americans this month. So far we have read about Martin Luther King, Jr., Rosa Parks, and Harriet Tubman. We are also working on the musical a little each day. If you have questions about costumes, please let me know. Remember that Tuesday (25th) is an early release day (2:00).

3— Mrs. Walkley—With all the sickness going around, please continue to monitor your child for any symptoms. Along with that, I'm working on catching up, putting the grades from last week in, but if your student was gone last week, please work with them to finish any leftover homework. If you could please check with your child and see if they need to replenish school supplies. Many are running low or completely out of things and my reserve supply is quickly being used up. Keep working on those states and capitals, and get started reading for the book report! Have a great weekend!

4— Mrs. Krug—Thank you to all the parents who have been following through and signing their assignment notebook. It shows that your child is responsible and that you are willing to help train your child. As the saying goes: It truly does take a village! Keep on working with your child with multiplication math facts. The sooner they learn these the easier and quicker their math assignments will be. Also, a quick reminder to get your report card envelopes back. There are still a few families that need to return them.

5 & 6—Mr. Jammer—Our classroom sings here at St. Paul this Sunday, January 23, in the 10:30 am service and again in the monthly Prayer at the Close of Day service on Wednesday, February 2 - 7:30 pm. We are finishing up our studies of the Ten Commandments this week in catechism. We will then be discussing the Apostles' Creed.

7 & 8—Mr. Brennan— January can be a long cold month and fun things like spirit week can help with that. I hope everyone had fun this past week. Right now it is important that students involved in activities and those who are not, stay focused on doing their best to complete their homework to the best of their ability. Parents/Guardians that received a request for a parent teacher conference please check your email and ask your student for a sheet this coming Monday. A form with dates and time will be coming out on Monday to assist in the scheduling of the meetings.

Athletics- Home BB games vs Martin Luther, Oshkosh, tomorrow, January 21. Game schedule has been changed: *Boys B - 4:30 pm, *Girls B - 5:30 pm, Boys A - 6:30 pm. Away games at Riverview, Appleton, next Friday, January 28.
